The Children Land Company has the only large body of truly shallow water Alfalfa land (on which the water is from only five to twenty feet) in the entire Pan Handle of Texas. This is a strong and reliable company, and we make this statement to court an investigation; and if we fail to demonstrate the truth of it, we stand ready to refund the railroad fare of any person who will visit the Pan Handle and find such fact misrepresented. N. F. Murray, agent, Oregon, Mo.

Meyer Post, G. A. R. of this city, is preparing for the proper observance of Memorial Sunday and Decoration Day. At a meeting of the Post held on the 26th ult., committees to carry out the observance of the days were announced by Commander Hardman, and his official orders will be found elsewhere in this issue. Rev. Enysart, of the M. E. church has been chosen to deliver the Memorial sermon. The annual address will be delivered by Hon. C. A. Mussman, of St. Joseph.

Prof. Coburn was up and around among his friends Monday afternoon and was a little slow on going home. On inquiry we learned that it was the fifth birthday of his son Richmond, and Mrs. Coburn sent out a bunch of invitations to his little friends to come over and celebrate the occasion with him. There was only 25 responses, and all boys—real genuine boys—full of that fire and vim and vigor, and they fairly made "Rome howl" for three hours. Mrs. Coburn braved the ordeal, and did everything in her power to make it pleasant for the little ones, especially the "goodies," and how they did disappear, when the little fellows went after them. The house is still standing where it was when they first came, and Coburn showed up to enjoy the repeat. The guests no doubt will long remember Richmond's fifth birthday.

Matt Cordrey was here last week, attending the funeral of his brother, and it was his first visit back to old Holt for 12 years. He was pleased with the looks of things, and says while he has traveled much, he has yet to see a finer country than old Holt and the Platte Purchase. He is carpentering at present in St. Joseph.

There was a marked falling off in the real estate transactions for April, 1907, as compared with April, 1906—the warranty transactions being some $50,000 below those of April one year ago, but the value of releases was much greater this year than last. For April, 1907, the warranty transactions amounted to $82,214; trust deeds, $67,080; chattels, $19,254; releases, $30,682.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Curry left Tuesday for Texas and other southern points, where Mr. C. goes in strong hopes that a long needed rest will bring to him his former health, and both are certainly entitled to a rest of nearly 10 years service in charge of the postoffice here. The silent prayers of our entire community will go up for them, that every hope and expectation may be realized by them. They expect to be absent for some 30 days.

E. J. Kellogg, who had never been known to do such a thing before, planted and had growing this season one of the nicest gardens near Craig, and he took great pride in showing his friends what he had accomplished with the hoe and a few seeds. Since the freeze, however, he has shown a remarkable composure which will possibly be explained by the following: "It's a judgment sent on me by the good Lord," he says, "and it's a sure sign that He don't want me to make no garden and I hereby take a solemn oath never to cross Him in the matter again."

Charles Traub, of Rock Port, Mo., who owns a large farm on the Nodaway river in Holt county, informs the Westboro Wave man that he has discovered oil in large quantities on his Holt county land. Mr. Traub says that he has saturated cotton cloth with the oil and that the cloth would burn with a flash by applying a match to it. He expects to make arrangements for sinking a well in the near future. The Traub tract is below the iron bridge on the Nodaway, and it may be that he has "struck oil," but the Wave item is the first news that has reached us about the find.

The spring flowers that gave such promise in the woods a month ago, are rather a sickly looking lot except in very favored spots. The leaves and grasses are more or less wilted and everything in old Mistress Nature's work shop is at a stand still.

J. R. ("Windy") Dodds, who formerly resided in Corning, and published the Corning Herald in 1878, in the interest of the Greenback party, died at his home in Wyandotte, Nebr., April 22d, where he published the Arbor State, a Social Democrat publication up to the time of his death.

The housewife who put up hundreds of quarts of fruits last season and was laughed at for her pains, is now having her inning. And she is getting gloriously even by occasionally reminding her former tormentors that she reckoned she knew what she was about when she filled her cellar with canned fruits last summer.

A thorough investigation and personal inspection of the Farmer and Bailey Counties Texas lands for which I have accepted the agency, is respectfully solicited. I invite the most careful examination of these lands. All those who purchase a quarter section or more will have their railroad fare refunded. Respectfully, N. F. Murray.

Mrs. Dr. Mavity died at her home in Lawton, Okla., on Thursday morning, May 2, 1907, after a lingering illness of nearly two years. For years Mrs. Mavity practiced medicine in this vicinity and was a most successful physician. A number of years ago she went with her husband to Oklahoma, hoping that a change in the climate would benefit her. She leaves five sons and three daughters besides a loving husband. We hope the family will send us an obituary for next week.—Corning Mirror.

Mr. John Stalder, who recently came into possession of the J. D. Good 220 acre farm, was a caller on the Leader this week and had us place his name on our list. Mr. Stalder came from Grant City where he was engaged in the lumber business. He is an old resident of north Missouri, having settled in Grant City in 1881. He is an old soldier and a member of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Stalder we welcome you in our midst and hope your coming will be mutual benefit.—Craig Leader.

At Columbia, one night last week, a large crowd went out to hear a lecture, the subject of which was "What Shall Be Done to Save Columbia?" If the $800,000 appropriated by the last legislature for the support of the State University will not save the town, then we suggest that Walter Williams secure a few more saloons for the town.

Excursions the first and third Tuesdays in each month to Farmer and Bailey Counties, Texas, at very low rates, will be arranged with the Coldren Land Co. for their own special observation car and dining car service at 25c per meal and 75c per berth, for those desiring to investigate these lands, on application to N. F. Murray, Oregon, Mo. Telephone 38.

Earl Cooper is in a very bad shape, and he is now fasting. Some three weeks ago he took a chew of tobacco, and from the frightful condition of his mouth, there must have been some poisonous preparation used in its manufacture, that poisoned his mouth, and it has been in such a condition that he has been unable to eat, and while it is some better at present, it is still in extremely bad condition.

A handsomely engraved card has reached our table announcing the coming nuptials of Miss Emily Clara Steinmetz and Dr. Guy A. Roberts, at Raleigh, N. C., May 15th. The Doctor is a son of Rev. T. D. Roberts, and was a lad here, and attended our High school. He grew to young manhood among us, and has developed into a splendid man in its full meaning. He is now state veterinarian for North Carolina, and we extend him and the lady of his choice, our sincere congratulations.

Howell Caton, who for a number of years was a resident of Holt county, is now an employee of one of the St. Joseph confection firms. Last week he lost a cow in a peculiar manner. The animal had only been sick a few days. A post mortem examination was held and a piece of corn steel, about four inches long, was found in her heart. It is a common occurrence to find pieces of barbed wire and staples in the lungs of animals at the large packing centers, by the inspectors of the animal industry department.

We extend hearty congratulations to our young friend Will Galbraith, of St. Joseph, who on May 1st was united in marriage in that city to Miss Lucy Jones, also of St. Joseph. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Galbraith, of near Forest City, and is in the employ of the street railway of that city and is prospering. The bride is the daughter of one of Buchanan's prominent farmers, but lately retired and is now enjoying city life. We sincerely wish them all the good things possible that can possibly come their way in a long life.

On last Friday evening a jolly crowd of girls, composed of the Misses Grace Montgomery, Cora Frye, Nell Bragg, Sue Kiplinger, Nella Frye and Edith Dungan, went to Mound City to be the week end guests of Mrs. Lucy Bragg Munn, who on Saturday at 1:30 p. m. gave a luncheon in their honor. A menu of six courses was faultlessly served at a table whose center-piece was a large cut glass vase holding American beauty roses. It is needless to say that the time was delightfully spent—and that Mrs. Munn proved herself a most charming and gracious hostess.
